

Path to Liberty

©2019 Jack Trimpey, all rights reserved.

Give me your tired and huddled addicts, yearning to walk free – the captives held by rogue desire, afraid to walk alone.

Send me your sober ones, already headed home, but lacking trust that starts at home, with honor's guarantee.

I lift my lamp, AVRT[®], to show the golden door to life beyond addiction and its sinking vessel, sobriety.

Inspired by the words of Emma Lazarus, 1883, inscribed upon the Statue of Liberty, New York Harbor